- From 23.04.2018: 100 % of registration fees are due
- Transfers to another person are possible as far as they are made before the cancellation of the registration. A tax of € 25.00 will be charged for the modification. The banking charges in case of rejection of a debit order are chargeable to the participant.
- An invoice can be sent by post upon request of the participant and involve administrative expenses up to €10.00.

Other conditions

There is no right for damages, as well as, for reimbursement of expenses of registration in case of event of force majeure. Cases of absolute necessity justifying, at any time, the cancellation or the adjournment of the seminar, are any reasonably unpredictable situations, independent from the will of FESET, who make impossible the execution of all or part of the seminar. (E.g. natural disasters, strikes or extreme violence).

The different events, services and performances free or paid of the seminar can generate photographic shots or media (audiovisual) captations, which will be afterward used on the web site of the organizer, in focus magazines and/or in other professional publications. The participation at the seminar involves consequently the acceptance for the participants to be photographed or filmed and the acceptance of the use and the publication of the recordings.

The organizer cannot be responsible for claims resulting from physical or material injury resulting from case of carelessness or from deliberated acts on behalf of participants or others. Any other claiming is excluded. The organizer disclaims all liability in case of loss or robbery of objects, mobile phones, computers or others, in case of carelessness from the participants.

The French version will determine conditions of participation translated in the other languages if the statement rises differences of interpretation.

Information relative to the data protection

As organizer of the seminar, FESET offers a complete range of the services and/or performances for international events of 60-150 participants. The protection of your private life has a big importance for us, particularly concerning the personal data protection.

Use of the personal data

FESET uses the data collected during the inscription to:

- for the organisation of the event which you joined, possibly by means of external suppliers
- to inform you by mail about events which FESET organizes and who could be interesting for you
- no data is transmitted or sent to any third-party.
